Subject	First look: Aldgate Logistics, A$120M senior term loan

Corliss & Grant approached us on 2 October with a teaser and information memorandum, and we met management on 5 October. This is a first look. We have not started any diligence, there is no term sheet and we have no valuation or financial due diligence.

Before we commit a diligence budget of around A$180k for financial and commercial due diligence, please run an initial credit screen and tell us whether this is worth pursuing, and on what terms in principle.

Questions we would like the screen to cover

- Customer concentration: 41% of revenue from three customers, with the Orchard Foods renewal due in March 2027.
- Integration risk on Polar Freight, given the nine-month plan.
- How the A$46M Eastern Creek project would be funded, and whether it should sit inside our facility or outside it.
- Halyard's holding period (acquired 2021) and likely exit timing relative to a five-year tenor.

Indicative ask from the adviser: five years, BBSW plus around 4.75%, general security. Halyard expects lender feedback by the end of October.
